VOLUME XXXVI NO. 38 GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 8, 1943 SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

Council Took Work Done This Year at Ratepayers Meeting

Mr. Beech inquired if the water works was paying its way and if not was the council going to try and improve it. The chairman stated that the water works had always made a surplus. The underwriter's inspector, had checked the town for fire protection and had indicated that owing to lack of fire protection, his insurance rates would be increased. This, he said, would affect the whole town placing it in a different class.

The way the water was at the present time was not possible to give fire protection and the only way to give fire protection would be to put the elevated tank into operation. The main leaks have been from mostly on service lines except the one at the 1000 ft. Hall corner. The reason being that these services were of galvanized iron pipe. Most of these services were now using steel pipe but this is difficult to obtain. However it is possible to get lead pipe and it is likely that any future repairs it is likely that will be used although it costs more. It is undesirable. He thought the water would be well advised to use lead instead of steel pipe. The matter of slatfores on the system should be looked into as most of these were on the project. The slatfores were used instead of on the end next to the main, and it was necessary to shut off the whole system to run the service line, and if the shut off was at the main it would only necessitate shutting off the one service and all other users could still get water.

Mr. McKay was of the opinion that users should be advised when the water would be turned off. The chairman explained that it is not always possible to notify users especially those living on the highest level as sometimes the pressure decreased when water is being used heavily in the main part of the town and it is not possible to tell when this occurs. Every effort is being made to have this remedied. The council are working on this now but cannot tell at present what the results will be. Mr. F. Behave of the Calgary Power Co. is an expert and is at present working on the problem. It was suggested that No. 3 and No. 4 wells be changed to pump into the ground reservoir and then pump up to the highest level into the distribution system. This would entail a great deal of labor in digging and it is difficult to get labor now. However, those living on higher levels would be well advised to have a supply of water in hand in case of the pressure being cut off. The chairman asked water users to check their taps, ask for leaks and said that a leak of one gallon a minute would amount to a waste of 1400 gallons a day. Any one having leaks of this nature were asked to have the necessary repairs made without delay.

Mr. S. Haykney speaking for the Community Hall committee stated the hall had broken even so far as current expenses and was in a position to run. Most of the dances put on are by the Red Cross and these are free so far as the hall rental is concerned. The Saturday night dances brought in a little extra revenue but these have been discontinued during the winter as it would not pay to have the hall weather when it was necessary to heat the hall. Some money was spent on repairing the roof this year which was necessary, but this will now last for a considerable time.

As there were no further discussions, the chairman spoke at length on the irrigation problem. He explained that irrigation has made some considerable change in the town since it started in 1931. There was now a possibility of losing the irrigation as the C.P.R. had definitely decided to abandon it and will not be running next year. The farmers taking over the irrigation from the C.P.R. with the assistance of the provincial and federal governments. The company will give the farmers all the equipment they have in connection with the irrigation system and will give them a total of $400,000 to cover any emergencies. Meetings are being held in order to get the feelings of the farmers. It was suggested that the town of Gleichen should pay $600 for water under the new system. It was plained that only economical use of the water to the town residents was as provisions, that is a dollar an acre instead of fifty cents as now, the town should pay only twice as much as it has been paying for water, which would be around $250 or $260 a year. The farmers actually would not be paying twice as much as before as under the C.P.R. contract they paid 50 cents an acre if they were on the ditch whether they used the water or not under the new agreement they would be required to pay only for the acreage they actually used the water for so the farmers would be paying less than before. The town has been paying an average of $129 a year to the C.P.R. for water since the system was installed and it would seem only fair that we pay double that amount. He had told them that $500 a year was out of the question. Mr. Sturmer then asked the meeting if it was worth $250 or $260 a year for irrigation water in town.

W. H. Dush: "I think it would be alright."

T. H. Beach: "I would move that the council be authorized to spend up to $250 or to obtain the irrigation water at any reasonable sum of money."

T. W. Bates: "It is alright with me. The tax can rest assured."

Mr. Sturmer said the council would endeavor to get the water at the most reasonable rate possible any if they were asked to pay more than that it was thought reasonable the council would have the privilege of putting the matter up with the Public Utility Board.

The subject of curfew next came under discussion. The chairman stated that ever since last spring the council has been asked to install a curfew on the town. A request had been made by the school board that the council consider the matter. The secretary had written to several towns that have a curfew and their reports were favorable.

W. J. McKay: "I believe this is a move in the right direction."

R. S. McQueen: "Who is going to catch these kids and take them home?"

Mr. McKay: "I think if there was more cooperation from the parents there would be no call for a curfew."

S. Hampton: "I have been in town where there was a curfew and it was a joke."

Mr. McKay: "My children must be home at a certain time and if they are not they are punished."

Mr. Robinson: "If a child is old enough to be in the street at 10 o'clock at night he should be old enough to know that he should be home at 10 o'clock. I think the curfew is all right."

T. H. Beach: "I think the curfew is one of the dirtiest slams that could be directed at the parents of the children of the town. You are telling the people of this town that they are not able to look after their kids and the council must look after them. I think it absolutely disgraceful."

S. Hampton: "I think when the curfew came up it was because of a few residents who were not living up to the law if you go down to the bottom of it. If the council would make sure residents kept within the law there would be no necessary for curfew."

Mr. Sturmer: "I do not know of any residents the residents are doing to break the law."

At this point the chairman spoke very highly of the attendance of the councillors at town meetings. They had turned out regularly and had shown keen interest in the affairs of the town.

The chairman stated that parking of cars in town was very irregular and was very dangerous, and that should be an accident occur through improper parking the town had no by-law covering name, the town might be held liable. It was proposed to get the by-law to regulate traffic in town and to enforce it.

R. S. Haykney: "I was of the opinion there was a by-law to this effect."

Town & District Old Timers Dance is Big Success

Mr. and Mrs. Basarrah have received word that their son Russell, who is overseas with the R.C.A.F., has been promoted to the rank of a Flight Lieutenant.

There is no truth in the report that Ed. Howard, the local teacher is guilty of hoarding water even though it was discovered that his barber shop basement was full of water—evidently caused by a leak in the water pipes.

Talking about curfew, We are not certain but believe there is already a curfew bylaw for Gleichen passed many years ago, probably before the last war. It must have been a fine because we cannot remember anyone being pinched or the kids chased off the streets.

While mending around in the upper stories of the fire hall J. W. Dush discovered a stored—first bell. He is wondering why it has never been hung so that it could ring out its note of alarm when necessary. How about using it if, and when curfew is enforced. Will some one who is full of lore of Gleichen's history past come forward and explain where the bell came from. Davey Wilson should be able to enlighten Mr. Phythian on this. He has a good memory for past events. There is reason to suppose the bell once adorned a locomotive probably among the first to arrive in Gleichen.

The town water supply was very low a few days last week and it broke down in one of the pumps. J. Young and a staff of mechanics kept the pump working after a couple of days of strenuous work.

A committee is seeking the names of all former students of Mount Royal College who are serving in the present war. An honor roll is being prepared and the committee is most anxious that no names may be overlooked. Will students, parents and friends mailing names and present addresses of former students with His Majesty's Forces to Mr. Leonard Leacock, Mount Royal College, Calgary.

Mr. Sturmer: "The town has no bylaw to this effect at the present time. It has been suggested that signs be placed on the avenues so that traffic coming on to the main street would have to stop before coming on to that street. Also would you think of having big trucks park on a side street instead of on the main street as is done in some towns. The big trucks shut off the visibility and it is difficult for a car backing away from the curb to see the traffic is coming."

R. S. McQueen: "I think the regulations would be good, but I do not think stop signs would be as good as slow signs."

P. Dehaes: "I do not think there should be any discrimination between trucks and cars in regards to parking. I think trucks should be treated the same as cars."

A. F. MacCallum: "It would seem to me the most trouble is in the parking of cars and not so much as stop signs. I would be in favor of regulating parking. Cars should not be allowed to park at an angle."

P. Dehaes: "I think I suggest that the regulations should not be made to restrict the most people to come to town and not drive them away."

M. Bolinger: "You don't seem to have any speed limit in town except for the short space. I would like to see something done to stop traffic going 60 miles an hour. I think there should be slow signs from the suburbs right through the town."

A vote was taken then as to whether or not the council should make some bylaw to regulate the parking of cars and trucks in town. The meeting was unanimous in favor of some regulations to handle traffic and parking in town.

Mr. Sturmer, speaking on behalf of the Board of Trade, said that in the spring the organization would have a number of ash and elm trees planted in the town and no by-law wanting trees for this purpose should get in touch with him or some member of the board. He then thanked the members for their interest in the meeting which adjourned at 10:30 o'clock.

Old Timers Dance is Big Success

The eighteenth Old Timers dance was a huge success in every way one looked at it. In the neighborhood of six hundred people attended, the biggest crowd for some years and about 175 under the record established some fourteen years ago.

The Old Timers dance has set a name for itself and always draws a very large crowd from all over the country for many miles. There were not many of the real old timers present. Not having a banquet no doubt had much to do with their absence.

The crowd was a hilarious and happy one and all seemed to be out for a good time. There was only one intermission for any length of time and this was when the orchestra took time to dine. Art Bremner and his orchestra kept things going until after three a.m.

At supper time the Red Cross ladies were very busy and in no time had laid stores to replenish their larder so that there would be enough sandwiches to go around.

NOTES OF THE DANCE

Miss F. Warner held the lucky ticket to win the beautiful quilt raffied by the Red Cross.

The old timers on hand had a meeting and decided that they wanted a banquet next year and will have one if all there to bring the grub. That was the way to talk old boys.

At midnight, while the orchestra had dinner, there should have been some musicians on hand to keep the dance going. With a big crowd continuous music is the idea.

The night hawks say that some of the boys were still going strong at 6 a.m. Old Timers might even bump New Years eve by a mile.

There was a large delegation from Standard. The country south of the Bow River was also well represented. The Red Cross will realize a nice sum from their night's work all of which will go towards their war work efforts.

SEED SUPPLIES

Available stocks of seed oats and barley will probably disappear rapidly on the winter wheat acreage shortage in eastern Canada; and in large sections of Alberta and northwestern Saskatchewan, fire damage has been serious.

We have completed germination tests on 407 samples of winter wheat, 142 (34.9%) germinated 60% or less, 14 samples (3.2%) germinated 30% or less.

When To Get New Seed

If one's own seed is low in percentage and vigor of germination. If it is not the best variety for the particular district. If it is mixed with seed of other varieties. Or if it has been badly damaged in threshing.

A good uniform stand can only be obtained with good seed. A poor or patchy stand is a cordial invitation to weeds.

How To Get It

Simply call at a country elevator in which the agent is an authorized representative of your own "provincial" Crop Improvement Association. He has not only seed order forms, but also information on officially recommended varieties. The Crop Improvement Associations are sponsored by Dominion and Provincial Governments. Universities, Seed Growers' Associations and Elevator Companies.

What To Get

It is usually an extravagance to get registered seed for the entire farm. Buy enough for a seed plot. Buy crop from which will grow the seed for the following season. If it is necessary to replace all seed of one or more crops, it is usually wise to buy certified seed, which is cheaper, for the main crop, plus enough registered for a seed plot.

It is illegal for anyone other than authorized purchasers or authorized elevators to sell registered seed. Seed ammunitions to buy or sell ammunitions of any kind." C. C. McKee, regional superintendent of rationing, W. P. T. S. states. His warning is issued following the appearance of advertisements offering to buy or sell box

In response to enquiries following a report that a number of Canadian casualties had been aboard a vessel reported sunk by aerial torpedoing and bombing in that theatre of war.

Increases ranging from 10 to 65 cents per ton for coal production in areas of Alberta and British Columbia have been authorized by the coal administrator. New price results from the decision, reached by the Royal Commission which investigated the dispute in those areas, are determined as directed by the government. These increases are subject to review at any time up to March 31, 1944.

There have been no Canadian casualties in connection with the reported sinking of a vessel by enemy action in the Mediterranean recently, according to National Defence Headquarters. The reassurance was issued.

A Bond Of Empire

THE STABILITY OF THE STRUCTURE of the British Empire has been a subject of discussion and conjecture among certain groups for some time. These groups are made up largely of people not living within the Empire, and doubtless their views are influenced to some extent by wishful thinking. They have, nevertheless, received some publicity which has led to considerable thought and discussion on the subject. Events of the past four years have shown beyond doubt that the tie which joins together the various parts of the Empire have never been stronger than they are today. The most recent assurance of this fact has come in the appointment of His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester, the King's brother, as the Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia. This appointment is seen by many as an emphatic reply to those who have sought to show that there is disunity within the Empire, for it was made at the request of Prime Minister Curtin, the head of Australia's Labour government.

Duke Followed Army Career

The Duke of Gloucester, who is forty-three years old, chose to follow a military career after leaving the British field forces shortly after the outbreak of the war, and he served in France and Belgium before the fall of those countries in the spring of 1940. He has since served as chief liaison officer to Home Forces Headquarters and is that capacity he is well known to many members of the Canadian Army. Although he has always been interested in his career in the army, he has not let it interfere with his public obligations as a member of the Royal Family. It is in that capacity that he is occupying the exciting post as Governor-General of Australia. He is once again displaying his willingness to serve the Empire. The Duchess of Gloucester, who has been active in war work in Britain, and is honorary chief commandant of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force is held in high esteem by the British people, and is said to be exceptionally well fitted to all the role of chaineau de Australia's Government House at Canberra.

Enthusiasm Is Shown By Press

It has been known for some time that the Australian public has favored the choice of one of their own people for the post of Governor-General. This is considered deeply significant, therefore, that the Labour government of Premier John Curtin, requested the appointment of a member of the British royal family at this time. The Australian press warmly welcomed the announcement with enthusiasm and the Sydney Morning Herald carried an editorial on the subject which said, in part: "King George has honored Australia by designating his younger brother, the Duke of Gloucester, to represent him in the Commonwealth. For the first time a brother of the reigning King will become Governor-General of the Dominion and the significance of this development will not be lost upon the outside world." Prime Minister Churchill has said on more than one occasion that he did not intend to preside over the disintegration of the British Empire, and events are bearing out the wisdom of his statement.

COOKING VEGETABLES FOR VITAMIN PRESERVATION

We now know that the method of cooking vegetables is just as important as the choice, in obtaining a maximum amount of vitamins and minerals. Baking is the best method as the greatest amount of vitamins are lost, but not every vegetable can be baked satisfactorily. But we can steam practically all vegetables and as they are not in the water, only the vitamins destroyed by heat (about 10% B1) are lost. If we boil the vegetables and throw the water away, as most of us do, vitamin C and members of the vitamin B complex are lost because these water soluble vitamins are lost in too much water, but science tells us they need to be just covered with water. In the case of leafy vegetables just the water that clings to the leaves after washing is enough.

We should divide vegetables into two classes:

1. The leafy vegetable, chard, spinach, cabbage, broccoli and strong flavoured vegetables such as onions, turnips and Kohlrabi are cooked without a cover.
2. The other ones, beets, carrots, parsnips, peas, potatoes, sautay, squash, string beans are cooked with a cover.

If you follow these few rules in cooking you will be getting the maximum food value from your vegetables:

1. Use raw vegetables.
2. Bake or steam them frequently.
3. Boil vegetables in skins if possible, in little water and only until they are done.
4. Wash, peel or cut vegetables just before cooking.
5. Use the cooking water for soups, sauces, etc.
6. Serve immediately.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY— YOUTH'S RETURN

By JEAN CAMERON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

He plodded slowly along the gravel walk, his eyes never glancing at the bright flowers set so neatly in their plots, the green of the small vegetable gardens, the clean stones of the little thresholds. The houses were becoming more numerous now; soon he would reach the village. The bridge lay just on the other side. Shifting his hiker's bag to his left shoulder, he walked with his head down, for he could have found his way blindfolded—he did not need to look. His instructions had been clear and simple. He was to start ten miles from the village, and he was quite tired, but it was not fatigue that caused the deep pain in his heart.

Fifteen years! He could hardly believe it. Apparently things had not changed at all. He could have sworn that the carts and wagons that passed him, pulled by horses and an occasional dog, were the same in which he had ridden so often in the past. The fences were the same; the cloud of dust at the summit of the hill was the same. He paused there, at the top, and stared at the village just ahead of him.

So he returned to the people who had taken him when his nation was starving, fed him, clothed him, sent him to their schools—how else could he have spoken their language so well?—made him one of them. He would notice the fortifications at the bridge, the guards—how often and when they changed, how many there were, any slight difference in their uniforms—then tramp back and make his report, as so many others were doing. No one knew; no one guessed. The value of the whole scheme lay in its surprise element; if they knew, if they learned, perhaps the whole idea would be abandoned. If he told—if he ran down to the village and cried, "Don't you remember me? I am the little boy who lived here fifteen years ago, come back in treachery."

His head went up; his jaw stiffened. This was his duty. He would obey orders, think of them what he might. He was no longer a person; he was a soldier acting under command. He rode on steadily.

But he was glad—ah, but he was glad—that George and Martha were here. He could never have borne the pain of coming back if they were not here, of betraying them. George had been to him like the father he had never seen, and Martha, with her gingerbread, her warm smile, her work-hardened hands, had been like his own mother. They had wept bitterly when the four years of his stay had ended, had written to him—and then suddenly both were dead. He had wept, too, when he received that letter.

He must be careful not to look at the little cottage. It might surprise him, make him think of what it would look like afterwards when the plan he was helping succeeded. He would look at the garden. There might be different curtains at the windows. But the old trees would be the same. A new dog would nose about. He sighed. How he had loved old Rex, the lumbering water spaniel! They had spent many hours playing together in the yard and down by the canal.

He was in the centre of the little town now. The chatter of the women's open markets, the bustle of the little shops, were all familiar to him. They made a far happier, gay sound than the noises in his own city. No one noticed him. Hikers were a common sight here. A girl sometimes threw a quick glance at his tall figure, nudged her companion and giggled. Women, laden with bundles, sometimes apologized, almost apologetically, for bumping into him. He paused for a moment, stepped down a side street to gaze at the square. There could be no harm in recalling for just a moment, the old days. He was perfectly safe; no one knew him. He spoke the language like a native.

The rumble of the wagons over the cobble street dominated the noise which he heard. He did not notice the soft white behind the fence on which he leaned. He did not notice the black mass of hair that waddled through the gate and threw itself on him until it was licking at his shoes. "Rex!" he exclaimed. He bent, put a gentle hand on the old dog's head, and his feelings—due to monthly blood disturbances, it helps to regulate the flow of blood and relieve the distress of "bad" days. Relief is certain.

"He is very old," she said, "you must excuse him. It is astonishing that he notices a stranger. He lies on the sun all day. . . now, can it be you? I would never have known you. You remember? I lived next door, and we look in the dog when Martha died." Her look of welcome faded; she stared at him in bewilderment.

But we understood you were conscripted for three years! You are in the army? HERE, in these clothes?" He did not rise. His hand continued to rub the dog's long ears, the coarse hair that had once been so fine and silky. In a moment she could make someone; he was caught, captured and all he felt was relief, a great wave of relief sweeping over him.

Pensions For Farmers

Alberta Wheat Pool Favors Plan For Pool Members

Delegates attending the annual convention of the Alberta wheat pool approved a resolution providing for a contributory pension plan for wheat pool members.

It provided that the directors be asked to investigate the matter and present a plan for discussion at the 1944 convention. The idea was based on the making of deductions from the returns of grains marketed through pool elevators, the amounts to be applied to a fund which would provide pensions for farmer members of the pool.

Mr. Antonson pointed out that citizens engaged in occupations other than farming are finding means of obtaining pensions for their old age, but to date farmers had not made any provision toward that end.

British Merchant Ships Keep Sailing In Spite Of Losses

No nation has suffered like Britain in losses at sea. British ships that have been sunk carrying materials on the seven seas, particularly the Atlantic, reach a staggering figure. And the toll of British seamen who manned the ships has been correspondingly high. More than 16,000 British merchant seamen have lost their lives at sea through enemy action since the beginning of the war. But never once has the sailing of a ship from a British port been delayed through want of a crew—The Sentinel.

OLD TIMERS URGE ANNUAL BANQUET BE HELD NEXT YEAR

A meeting of the Old Timers Association was held in the Gleichen Community Hall Friday evening Dec. 22nd at 8:30 p.m. Joe McBean of Nakamookook took charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, John Martin and Walter James, Cluny, 1st vice-president. As there was not a turnout it was carried that the slate of officers remain as in the past year as follows:

John Martin, Rosend, president, Walter James, Cluny, 1st vicepresident.

Joe A. L. McBean, Nakamookook, 2nd vice-president.

Geo. McBean, Gleichen, secretary-treasurer.

A lengthy discussion was held regarding lack of interest of Old Timers due to the absence of the banquet the past two years. A motion was carried that next year a banquet would be held sponsored by the association.

New members are essential to keep the organization going and anyone residing in Gleichen or neighboring towns since 1900 are cordially invited to join the Gleichen Old Timers Association at membership fee of $1 per year.

Items From The Battery

(By Battery Reporter.)

Highlight this week was the inspection of Gleichen Gunner Cadets. A visit was paid by Major James and Pit-Lieut. James, recruiting officers of the Army and the Air Force on Monday when they inspected and took to the local cadets. They brought along a public address system and the boys looked very smart in their new uniforms as they marched to the tune of "Col. Bogey". They have the makings of an outstanding troop.

The visiting officers told the cadets that their training would be of much value to them in later years, it instilled systematic, neatness and poise which they should never lose.

Cadet Instructor Lieut. P. B. Nelson has a complete new roster of officers and N.C.O.s, as follows: Lieut. Donald McLeay, Sgt. Walter Hines and Norman Mathison; L. Bids. Robert Service, William Service, Kenneth McLeay and Noel Warner.

There are 22 cadets on the nominal roll at present and they have elected to take advanced training and will receive instruction in fundamentals in signalling, first aid, knots and lashings and three optional subjects.

They will be further inspected by the new Provincial Assistant Cadet Officer, Capt. Kerr and also by officers of 22nd Battery with which the troop is affiliated.

Official Christmas and New Year greeting cards from army units and establishments will occasion no extra labor for overworked postal clerk this year. They won't be any. Army headquarters frowns upon the practice of quarters frowns and has issued an order banning such cards for the duration.

The Canadian Army's efficient personnel selection service, which is primarily responsible for placing recruits in the branch of the service for which they are most suited, could easily reverse its function when the war is over, and play an important role in the civilian rehabilitation of men in the services. Hopes that this might be done are expressed by Brig. J. R. Rees, consulting psychiatrist in the British Army who is in charge of the course of a survey of Canadian psychiatric problems. The British expert adds that if the boys are not too anxious to be demobilized immediately after the war the authorities will then have an opportunity to rehabilitate them in the jobs for which they are best suited.

R. L. (Pop) Campbell who was a bombardier in the 22nd until he went to work with his brother's construction company on the Alaskan Highway was a visitor for a few hours in Gleichen on Sunday. He was stationed about 500 miles north of Dawson Creek and says the country was rolling prairie in that vicinity. When asked if he anticipated much development there he answered that it will be a great country to fly in. All Canadian construction companies have completed their work on the highway. Pop has gone to Toronto in connection with business of his firm. It is hoped he will return to Queenstown where he has been a leading citizen for some years.

Soldiers at the Infantry Training Centre at Cribbs Barracks Calgary, go to "Overcast" once a month when they get Overcast Army Station for all three meals. Biggest difference is in fresh milk, cut from 16 ounces in Canada to two-and-a-half in Great Britain. The potato ration drops from 14 to eight ounces per man and the beef from nine ounces to four ounces. Vegetables, canned milk, bacon, coffee and butter amount to about the same.
